Description

An elegant pair of late Georgian decanters of tapering, bottle form, each finely engraved with delicate swags of stylised foliage and ribboned festoons. The design culminates in a central motif of classical refinement, perfectly balanced to complement the decanters' graceful silhouette. Each is topped with cut lozenge stopper.

These decanters, with their refined engraving and clarity of form, would have graced the dining table of a discerning household with quiet elegance.
