Description

This beautifully crafted inkwell features a body made from clear, faceted crystal with a striking crosshatch pattern. The lid matches the design of the base, creating a balanced and elegant look. At the centre, a polished ormolu band wraps around the neck, engraved with delicate floral and lattice details, adding a touch of warmth and luxury. The piece rests on a solid square foot, offering both stability and style.

This inkwell stands as a symbol of timeless luxury and the enduring elegance, once a tool for the written word, now a cherished collectible or a sophisticated statement piece for a refined desk or cabinet.
